Summary

As a data scientist, I specialize in exploratory data analysis, data visualization, statistical modeling, and advanced machine learning techniques. My deep understanding of Python, TensorFlow, scikit-learn, and FastAPI allows me to build sophisticated machine learning models and deploy them efficiently. I also leverage tools like PowerBI and spreadsheets to transform raw data into actionable insights. I earned the Google Advanced Data Analytics Certificate, a comprehensive, hands-on program that covers the entire data analysis process—from data cleaning and visualization to building predictive models. By uncovering trends, identifying risks, and optimizing strategies, I help businesses unlock the full potential of their data and drive sustainable growth.
